ALDERMEN ADOPT DAYLIGHT SAVING ORDINANCE; EFFECTIVE APRIL 24

At Close of Public Hearing Tuesday Evening—Will be Sent To Mayor Canfield for Approval—Trade Council and Garden Club Favored It—But Few at Hearing.

Sunday, April 24, the hands on Kingston's clocks will be pushed one hour ahead for the Daylight Saving ordinance, adopted by the common council Tuesday evening, goes into effect at that time. All of the council with the exception of Alderman Purvis of the Thirteenth ward voted in favor of daylight time. But little interest was displayed by the public in the question for the hearing was attended by but thirty people. The ordinance will now be sent to Mayor Canfield for his approval, and as it was the ordinance he had sent to the council there seems to be no question but that he will approve it.

President Dittus presided at the public hearing held that evening with all of the aldermen present. Mayor Canfield was also present.

Trade Council Favor Daylight.

Frank Richardson said that the Trade Council at the meeting Monday evening had gone on record as favoring daylight saving. He said that for the past few weeks he had been ascertaining the sentiment of the city's industrial workers towards the adoption of the ordinance and he had found that the great majority desired the daylight time.

Mr. Noble, representing the Central Athletic Club, said that the members of the club were strongly in favor of the daylight time as it gave more time during the summer months for baseball and other athletic sports.

Wands Opposed Measure.

Mr. Wands opposed the proposed ordinance, and said he failed to see where it would do any good to have daylight time as work could be started an hour earlier if desired and it would not be necessary to shove the hands of the clock ahead. During the war daylight saving was probably necessary and he had not objected but now the war was over and he saw no need for daylight saving.

Early Risers Against It.

Mr. Pierce said that early risers did not favor daylight time. As far as the fact that the railroads would run on daylight time it would not make the situation any more complicated if Kingston retained standard time than it was last year when the railroads only partly adopted daylight time.

Agricultural Interests Against It.

Mr. Hathaway, of the executive committee of the Ulster County Farm Bureau, said he represented the agricultural interests of the county and that it was a known fact that the farmers of the land were almost solidly against daylight saving. The farm bureau with a membership of 1,200 was against the daylight saving plan, and the executive committee had adopted a resolution against daylight saving.

He said that it worked a hardship to the farmer, and it was also causing him financial loss. If we work under the old time and Kingston under the new when we quit work and drive into Kingston it is to find the stores closed. If we desire to attend the movies we have to go to the second performance."

If Kingston adopted daylight saving the help on the farms would also want to work under the new time. As matters are now the farmer and his help go to work at 7 o'clock, but there is not much to be done in the fields until 9 o'clock, and for those two early morning hours the farmer has to find jobs for his men to keep them busy until the dew is off the grass. Under daylight time it meant three hours in the morning instead of two for the farmer to find odd jobs to keep the men busy until field work would be started. And in the afternoon they quit an hour earlier just when their services could be more profitably used than at any other time. He said that a survey made of the farming districts last year under daylight saving had shown an actual financial loss to the farming interests of $25,000,000.

Clerical Workers Want It.

Cornelius J. Heitzman of Hoffman street said that the clerical workers of the city were heartily in favor of daylight saving.

Ulster Garden Club Approved.

Alderman Warren, of the First ward, said that a meeting of the Ulster Garden Club had been held in his ward that afternoon, and that the secretary of the club had been directed to inform the common council and Mayor Canfield that the club was in favor of daylight saving. The Alderman read the communication from the Garden Club and filed it with the city clerk. The club favored the ordinance because it gave opportunity to city residents to have a little garden of their own.

Brewster Powder Plant Opposed.

There being no others to be heard either for or against the proposed ordinance, the hearing was closed and the aldermen took up the discussion before voting on its adoption.

Alderman Macholdt said that Mr. Brewster, of the powder plant in Port Ewen, had told him he was strongly opposed to daylight saving. He employed 100 men, and 75 were residents of Kingston. Under daylight saving time they would get over to the plant too early in the morning and would have to wait an hour before going to work as the plant would run on standard time.

How About Transport Ferry?

Alderman Macholdt said that according to the new time tables of the ferry Transport, plying between Kingston and Rhinecliff, the ferry would run on standard time. As a result those who came on the last ferry at night from Rhinecliff would have to walk to their destination as the trolley cars would have stopped running for an hour. He thought it would be well for the mayor or the council to get in touch with those running the ferry and have it run on daylight time so that the residents of Kingston and the traveling public would not be inconvenienced.

Schick an Early Riser.

Alderman Schick of the Third ward said that he was a working man and there was not a man in the room who got up any earlier than he did, and that he had found the majority of people in his ward in favor of daylight time. With all the local trains, except the milk train, running on daylight time it would save much confusion in adopting the ordinance suggested by the mayor in his communication to the council.

Schick Moved Its Adoption.

Alderman Schick moved the adoption of the proposed ordinance, and Alderman Kullmann seconded it. Twelve aldermen—Warren, Roosa, Schick, Lemister, Leverich, Parish, Kirchner, Kullman, Macholdt, Higgins, Myers and Martin—voted in favor of its adoption, while Alderman Purvis voted "no."

The ordinance adopted reads as follows:

An ordinance fixing the standard of time through the city of Kingston.

The common council of the city of Kingston do hereby ordain and enact as follows:

Section One.—The standard time throughout the city of Kingston is that of the 75th meridian of longitude west from Greenwich, except that at two o'clock ante-meridian of the last Sunday in April of each year such standard time throughout the city of Kingston shall be advanced one hour, and at two o'clock ante-meridian of the last Sunday of September of each year such standard time shall by the retarding of one hour be returned to the mean astronomical time of the 75th meridian of longitude west from Greenwich, and all courts, public offices and legal and official proceedings shall be regulated hereby.

Section Two.—All ordinances or parts thereof inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

Section Three.—This ordinance shall be published twice in each of the official papers of the city, and shall take effect immediately after the publication thereof.

It will now be sent to Mayor Canfield for his approval.

There were no other matters taken up, and the council adjourned.

SALVATION ARMY ADVISORY BOARD

An important meeting of the advisory council of the Salvation Army was held Monday afternoon at the court house at which time officers were elected as follows: Frank B. Matthews, president; William O'Reilly, vice-president; Charles R. O'Connor, treasurer; Virgil B. Van Wagonen, secretary.

Sub-committees to carry on the work which the council proposes to undertake were appointed as follows:

Education Committee—Judge Jenkins, Judge Hasbrouck, Mayor Canfield, Fred J. Walter, Virgil B. Van Wagonen.

Finance Committee—Sam Bernstein, Herbert Carl, John E. Mahar.

Service Committee—Judge Joseph M. Fowler, Mrs. May Gordon, S. E. Eighmey, Miss Martha H. Davis.

Organization Committee — Judge Hasbrouck, Mayor Canfield, Charles Snyder.

Among the matters discussed was that of taking up with the Salvation Army the care of cases in which the Army always has interested itself. Cases which are brought to the attention of the committee will be investigated and in many of them the co-operation of the Salvation Army will be asked. This is a branch of Salvation Army work which is very extensive but does not receive much publicity because of the nature of the work. It is only one phase of the work which the Salvation Army is conducting in Kingston city and Ulster county and throughout the world wherever local Army posts have been established.

Escaped Convict Caught.

New York, March 23.—John Riddell, declared by the police to have escaped from Auburn prison February 12, last, where he was serving a sentence for attempted burglary, was caught early this morning hiding in a baby carriage in the basement of a warehouse here. The police had received a tip that he was in the house. The police also arrested Jacque O'Rourke, William Lynch and James Daly on a charge that they harbored an escaped criminal.

DIRECT PRIMARY SEEMS DOOMED

Insofar As Nomination of State And Judicial Officers Are Concerned—Unique Situation Created By Refusal of Caulfield To Sign Report Of Either Faction On Committee Of Five.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., March 23.—Following assurances of favorable action, Senators James L. Whittley and De Hart H. Ames, members of the Joint Legislative committee which was appointed to investigate the election law today reported to the legislature recommending repeal of the direct primary system for the nomination of state and judicial officers.

Submission of this report as representing the views of a committee of five will be met by a vigorous protest from Assemblyman James A. Caulfield of Brooklyn, Republican committee member, who refused to sign it and also withheld his signature from a report already submitted to the legislature by the Democratic minority of the committee. The Democratic report was against any change in the nomination system. It was signed by Senator James J. Walker and Assemblyman Maurice Bloch.

Legislative leaders declare the situation presented by the submission of these reports is unique in legislative procedure.

The Whittley-Ames report names several changes intended to simplify the election machinery. It was accompanied by a bill.

The measure proposes:

Abolition of the office of state superintendent of elections, with transfer of his power and duties to sheriffs and police officials.

Repeal of the direct primaries so far as they apply to state and judicial offices.

Change in the hours of official primaries outside of New York city from 1 p. m. to 9 p. m.

Reduction of the number of election officers in New York city.

Enrollment by mail of absentee voters in districts where personal registration is not required.

Reduction of the number of official ballots for an election from 125 percent to 110 percent of the registered vote and reduction in number of official primary ballots from 125 percent of the enrolled vote to a number to be determined by the board of elections.

Abolition of card lists of registered voters in election districts where personal registration is not required.

Elimination of the names of presidential electors from the published lists of nominations.

Elimination of publication of official canvassers in election districts.

Dispensing with mailing of concurrent resolutions and propositions by town clerks in county districts.

Elimination of the provision for a special enrollment of a new political party.

Increasing the number of voters necessary to constitute a political party from 15,000 to 30,000.

Making each election district throughout the state a primary district.

Removing present limitation on salaries of commissioners of elections outside of New York city and leaves the matter to the board of supervisors to determine.

Allowing appointment of school teachers as election officers, where school authorities do not object.

Huling Seals With Big Circus.

Frank Huling, whose trained seals have been a feature with the Ringling Bros. and Barnum Shows combined for the past three years, and who has exhibited his wonderful seals in Australia and Europe, will be with the Ringling-Barnum Shows again the coming season which opens at the Madison Square Garden, New York city, Saturday, March 26th. Mrs. Huling will also be with the show in a secretarial position. The training place for the Huling seals is in the town of Ulster a short distance from the Higginsville bridge, he having about two dozen of the seals. It is expected the Ringling-Barnum combined shows will pitch their mammoth tents in Kingston one day in the latter part of May.

Hummel to Play.

Earle Hummel of Albany, formerly of Kingston, will be the violin soloist at the annual organ recital to be given by Gilbert Spross at the First Presbyterian Church, Poughkeepsie, Good Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Adopt Daylight Saving.

Newburgh and Poughkeepsie common councils have both adopted daylight saving ordinances similar to the one adopted by Kingston aldermen Tuesday night.

"RIP VAN WINKLE" SEEN TODAY IN MARLBOROUGH AND HIGHLAND

Eccentric Character Whose Movements and Purposes Are A Mystery Appears in Two Southern Ulster Villages, Still Looking for His "Old Woman" and Refusing to Explain.

For a man of his age, "Rip Van Winkle" is moving rapidly. Monday he appeared in Pine Hill, Tuesday in Ellenville and Stone Ridge and today The Freeman received messages from Marlborough and Highland that he had appeared there. At Marlborough he ate in a lunch room, wandered around gawking at the sights and giving utterly senseless replies to questions that were asked of him. He still appears to be sleepy or under the influence of some drug, acts dazed and is undecided and stupid in his movements. At Marlborough a crowd followed the queer looking old man about the streets trying to decide whether he was acting a part or really under the delusion that he was Rip Van Winkle, but without success, as about the only thing he would say was that he was looking for his "old woman."

How the man got from Stone Ridge to Marlborough is as deep a mystery as is how he got from Pine Hill to Ellenville. His trip from Pine Hill to Ashokan is explained by the fact that an automobilist persuaded him to ride, in the hope of bringing him to Kingston, but failed to get him here because he insisted on getting out of the car this side of Ashokan. This is the only trace that has been found of "Rip" having had any transportation.

He is again heading toward Kingston and close watch will be kept on the Skillypot ferry and the Eddyville road in an effort to meet him and in some way trace his movements should be reach this city and have his purposes investigated by the police Whether he is merely masquerading or is the victim of a delusion as to his identity and should be taken in custody and cared for should be ascertained, even though he has no criminal intent.

"RIP" ROUSES RONDOUT VALLEY

Aged Stranger in Queer Attire Followed By Crowds of Kerhonkson, Accord and Stone Ridge Residents—Still Seeks His "Woman."

The strange acting old man who persisted in having his dog eat with him and called himself "Rip Van Winkle" at Pine Hill Monday and at Ellenville on Tuesday attracted much attention during Tuesday afternoon when he passed through Kerhonkson, Accord and Stone Ridge

Reports furnished to The Freeman today by residents of those villages were to the effect that he was followed by crowds of boys and men in each place, but he refused all information about himself. His dog remained close at his heels all the time. At Ellenville the crowd was so large that everybody could not follow the old man and his dog in the hotel office, and news of what transpired when he had an argument with the clerk of the hotel was passed along by those inside the office to their less fortunate neighbors outside.

Kerhonkson furnished a crowd even bigger than that at Ellenville as news of the stranger and his queer actions had been passed along by telephone and by travelers on their way to Kingston. A number of Kerhonkson residents took snap-shots of the queer-looking pair.

At Accord and Stone Ridge, which were visited by the old man later in the afternoon, people tried to talk with him but he replied in an incoherent sort of way and insisted he was looking for his "woman." Several stray dogs in each of the villages tried to engage old "Rip's" dog in combat, but the dog paid no attention to them, but kept close to the heels of the old man instead.

Hurley residents, who had heard from Stone Ridge by telephone that the queer pair were on their way to Kingston were expectantly watching for them to show up about supper time and to enjoy the Dutch hospitality for which Hurley has been noted for many years, but the trail of both man and dog seems to have disappeared after they left Stone Ridge.

MRS. STILLMAN'S MOTION ARGUED

And Justice Morschauser Reserves Decision As to Alimony and Counsel Fees—Guy's Paternity Attacked and Defended.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

White Plains, N. Y., March 23.—Alleging that Mrs. James A. Stillman had taken as her lover an Indian guide who became the father of her infant, "Guy," Delancey Nicoll, chief of counsel for James A. Stillman, the multi-millionaire banker in his divorce suit, made a sensational fight in the supreme court here today against the wife's demand for $120,000 alimony annually and $25,000 counsel fees.

Counsel for the president of the great National City Bank of New York, presented figures to show that his income last year was $526,000, not sufficient to meet the wife's demands.

The hearing was brief and the expectation of sensational revelations was not realized. When the case was ended at 10:35 o'clock, Justice Morschauser reserved decision on Mrs. Stillman's alimony motion.

A plea that Mrs Stillman be granted but 20,000 yearly alimony and $25,000 counsel fees, instead of the larger sum she sought was made by Attorney Nicoll. The attorney argued that this sum was granted in the famous Gould divorce which then set a new high record." He said he did not believe it should be surpassed in the present case.

Justice Morschauser ruled that the whole question was affected by the legitimacy of Guy, the twenty-eight months' old infant of Mrs. Stillman and gave the lawyer until Saturday to file additional papers bearing upon this issue.

Landmark Burned.

The old toll house belonging to the [illegible] Lodge property and situated on the [illegible] near [illegible], was destroyed last Friday. The building was about 125 years old and a favorite stopping place in the days of the Cochecton-Newburgh stages.

PACKERS WILL SETTLE WAGES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, March 23.—Adjustment of the differences between the packers and their employes, which threatened to tie up one of the "key" industries of the country is believed to be near.

Secretary of Labor Davis met this morning with Dennis Lane and Redmond S. Brennan representing the employes.

The conference ended shortly before 1 o'clock. The employes representatives would not say whether they would return for a further conference.

Secretary Davis will meet the counsel for employers later today.

KINGSTON COAL PRICES LOWER

Anthracite coal took a drop today in Kingston as will be seen by the advertising columns of The Freeman. The new schedule of prices per ton, delivered, from which 25 cents will be deducted for cash is: Egg $12.70, stove $12.90, chestnut $13.00, pea $11.35. This is a drop of about 50 cents per ton.

It is expected by the dealers that there will be an advance of 10 cents per ton over these prices on May 1 and 10 cents more each month during the summer, but this cannot be definitely stated.

Anything Allowed on Our Roads.

In New Hampshire the state highway commissioner has forbidden the use of improved roads to motor vehicles exceeding three tons gross weight until the frost is out of the ground and the surface is firm. In this state "anything goes." The only limit on trucks is the size the manufacturers turn out and the only limit on their load is their capacity. Trucks may do and in some instances have done, irreparable damage to roadways and their owners are held to no responsibility.—Newburgh News.

Record Shipments in February.

Philadelphia, March 23.—Shipments of anthracite in February, according to the Anthracite Bureau of Information, established a new record for that month amounting to 5,966,101 gross tons. The nearest approach to this figure for February shipments during a normal year was in 1912, when shipments amounted to 4,775,866 tons and the next nearest in 1918, when 5,514,[illegible] gross tons were shipped.

DEVELOPS THRIFT IN ITS MEMBERS

The Annual Report of The Superintendent of Banks Praises The Work of Savings and Loan Association, And Shows Largely Increased Memberships.

That savings and loan associations not only help to develop thrift among wage-earners, but also in assisting many in building and buying their homes is shown in the annual report of the state superintendent of banks in his report for the past year.

Regarding savings and loan associations the report states. "These institutions exercise great influence in the promotion and development of thrift by assisting the members (the greater part of whom are wage-earners) in building and buying homes. Their total resources reported as of December 31, 1920, were more than $116,779,000, which is an increase of more than $15,530,000 over December 31, 1919.

"The provisions of the banking law require these associations to first meet the requests of their members for mortgage loans before making other investments. Of their total resources as of December 31, 1920, there were invested in mortgage loans $102,167,041. Their bond investment account on the same date amounted to $4,466,330, which is made up almost wholly of Liberty and Victory bonds. These figures show the great extent to which these associations have assisted their members and at the same time responded to the requests of our government for assistance during the war."

GRADES FOR POTATOES.

Matter Taken Up by Dr. Porter For Discussion.

Under the power conferred by the Foods and Markets law the establishing of official New York state grades for potatoes is contemplated by Dr. Eugene H. Porter, commissioner of foods and markets, according to an announcement made today. The grades proposed are those which have been voluntarily adopted by many shippers at the suggestion of the United States bureau of markets and if made official for New York state will make it compulsory, beginning with the 1921 crop, to ship potatoes according to these official United States grades or else mark the shipment "ungraded."

The first hearing on the proposed plan will be held at the Onondaga Hotel, Syracuse, on the afternoon of March 30. Other hearings will be held at dates and places to be announced later. In making this announcement Commissioner Porter stated that it is desired to have a full discussion of the proposed grades at the hearings and urged that persons interested who are unable to attend should write to the Division of Foods and Markets at Albany, stating any objections to, or proposals for improvements in, the grades.

"All kind things must be done on their own account, and for their own sake, and without the least reference to any gratitude."

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS.

While cranberries are in the market those who are fond of them may put them up in various ways to use when they are out of season. The following will be worth trying:

Spiced Cranberries.—Take two quarts of cranberries, two-thirds of a pint of vinegar, two-thirds of a cupful of water, two tablespoonfuls of cinnamon, one tablespoonful of cloves, both ground; also one tablespoonful of allspice and six cupfuls of sugar. Cook together for 45 minutes and put up in glasses as for jelly.

Cocoa Doughnuts.—Beat two eggs until light, add two-thirds of a cupful of sugar and beat again. Then add two tablespoonfuls of melted butter and one cupful of milk. Sift together three cupfuls of flour, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and two tablespoonfuls of cocoa, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt and one teaspoonful of cinnamon. Mix all together, adding flour to roll. Cut in strips and twist slightly. Fry in hot fat, drain and when cold roll in powdered sugar.

Potato Cakes.—Add one beaten egg to two cupfuls of mashed potatoes, two tablespoonfuls of milk, salt and white pepper to taste. Mix well and form into ten balls, using flour to handle them. Pin around each a thin strip of bacon, using a toothpick to hold the bacon in place. Set in a hot oven or under a gas flame and cook the bacon until crisp. Serve at once.

Leftover Lamb With Savory Sauce.—Put six tablespoonfuls of currant jelly, four tablespoonfuls of butter, one-half tablespoonful of lemon juice, with salt and tabasco sauce to taste into a saucepan or shallow dish. Lay in the slices of lamb and heat until well heated through. Serve with the sauce poured around the lamb.

Potato and Celery Croquettes.—Take four cupfuls of mashed potatoes, season to taste; add two well-beaten eggs, then stir in two-thirds of a cupful of finely cut celery, three tablespoonfuls of minced onion; mix well, dip in egg, roll in crumbs and fry in deep hot fat. This amount will make about fifteen croquettes.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE

XIII.—RHODE ISLAND

RHODE ISLAND is not really the name of this state. As can be seen from the state seal, the official name is the "State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations." It originated from two distinct settlements. The first was made by Roger Williams in 1636. He was the pastor of a church in Salem. As he advocated radical reforms he was ordered to return to England, but fled to the Narragansett tribe of Indians. From them he obtained a tract of land and called the town which he established Providence, in token of God's mercy which had so far provided for him.

About the same time Mrs. Anne Hutchinson and her followers were expelled from Massachusetts on account of a theological dispute. She made her way to the island of Aquidneck, which she purchased from the Indians for 40 fathoms of white wampum, 20 hoes and 10 coats. The name of this island was changed to the Isle of Rhodes, probably after the famous Greek island in the Mediterranean. By common usage it became known as Rhode Island. In 1663 Charles II gave Rhode Island a very liberal charter, and this remained in force until 1841, when a new state constitution was adopted by mass conventions, and two years later another new constitution was legally voted. The change in constitutions caused what was known as Dorr's rebellion.

The entrance of Rhode Island into the Union in 1790 completed the list of the original thirteen states. Though Rhode Island is the smallest of all the states, with only 1,248 square miles, it is very thickly populated and has five presidential electors, which is more than those of a number of states of much larger territory.

FOR SPRING WEAR

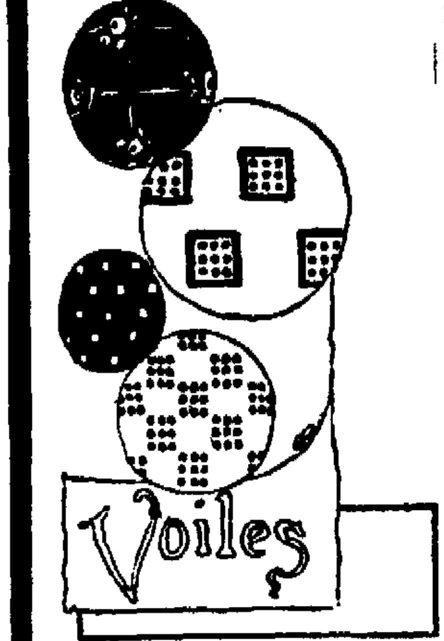
Duvetyn, Silk Crepe, Swisses, Organdies and Voiles.

Materials Are Now in the Limelight for the Coming Season's Wraps and Dresses.

What are the new frocks made of? So many things that you wonder if there is any kind of material that is not the vogue at present. Of course, there is always something about the new materials that stamps them as being quite a la mode. For instance, duvetyn for new spring wraps and in combination with other materials for suits is now to be had patterned, "froned," they call it, in stripes and plaids. Then there are new materials called by various names that all outduvetyn duvetyn in gloss, silkiness and wonderful softness of texture. They make most of the new wraps, which are being lined, by the way, with novelty crepes de chine.

Perhaps the material that stands out most for spring and summer wearing is silk crepe in at least a dozen different weaves. Crepe de chine, the most familiar one, is popular as any of the silk crepes. It is being shown in brilliant crimsons for use with white flannel or heavier crepe in a sport fashion that is gaining favor in the South and will undoubtedly drift North for summer. Then there is the Canton crepe, in white, cream, all shades of gray and a light apricot that is quite delightful.

Among the cottons dotted swiss and organdie stand about even. They are both being shown in rather brilliant colors this year and in the darker street shades. Organdies are also coming in gingham checks and plaids. Voiles embroidered in fine polka dots give the same effect as the dotted swisses and are more practical for summer street wear. Neater patterns seem to prevail in 1921 voiles, domino checks, small all-over figures, odd combinations of dots, and so on, rather than the large floral patterns that once imitated the georgette crepes. Ginghams are much the same, with a like insistence upon the small checks in red and white. Those charming little handmade frocks from France with hand-tucking, drawnwork and so on, would argue for a greater sale of handkerchief linen among the women who make their own clothes, but that is something that will have to develop later on.



TUCKS PLAY IMPORTANT PART

Embellishment Provides an Almost Necessary Feature of the Tailored Sport Blouse.

Tucks play an important part in the tailored sport blouse. Some novel adaptations of these are seen in blouses of crepe de chine and Japanese silks, with inset bosoms elaborately tucked. Others are tucked straight across the front. A most interesting method of using tucks is that of making them run diagonally instead of straight, and alternating rows of tucks with rows of folds, the folds being wider than the tucks. Narrow plaitings are used to finish collars and cuffs on some of these models.

Other forms of trimming on lingerie blouses are Valenciennes lace and net, the latter used as insets, both puffed and plain. Net often is combined with organdie. For instance, a model may have puffed net footing running up and down the entire front of the blouse, thus giving a much softer and more becoming effect than if made entirely of the organdie. This effect is prettily carried out in a colored organdie and the net footing in white.

There is not much to be said regarding the styles of blouses, as in these there is little change. The short overblouse is still the best liked model. It may hang perfectly straight or be drawn in slightly at the waistline. Sleeves follow no definite trend. They may be of the set-in sort, kimono style, or raglan type, and long or short, according to preference. Of course, the tailored models feature the long sleeves.

Way to Keep Buttons.

Anyone having nice buttons on shirt waists or summer dresses knows how soon they are ruined in a laundry, and it is a bother to sew them on every time. Try this way: Make buttonholes on both sides of waist, then sew buttons on tape the same length as on the side on which you made the buttonholes and button through the holes just made. This is easily removed when sent to the laundry, and saves buttons, time and temper.

Cheapness.

The laugh at one's own expense can hardly be called a mirthful laugh.—Boston Transcript.

THE CHARMING NEW TEA VEIL

This new tea veil is regarded as a style that should appeal to a large number of women who insist that a veil is necessary to complete the costume.

FLOWERS FOR SPRING HATS

Indications Are That Coming Spring Season Will Be Brilliant With Trimmed Millinery.

It looks as if the coming spring millinery season will be a "trimmed" one for the first time in quite a while. Sponsored by the leading French style creators, the advance models for the new season show a lavish use of garnitures, and it seems as though trimmings have finally come into their own. A particularly good demand exists for flowers at the present time, according to the bulletin of the Retail Millinery Association of America, and the call for them, as well as for other trimmings, is increasing.

"Paris especially favors flowers for her spring hats," the bulletin continues, "and has sent over models which illustrate how extremely effective the flower trimming may be if cleverly and artificially used. Some of the famous French houses have concentrated on all-flower hats that are unusually effective.

"In addition to the long, trailing wreaths and clusters of delicately colored flowers, the spring hats are trimmed with blossoms made of yacca, velvet, patent leather, braid, ribbon and self-fabric. Hand-painted flowers of silk, chiffon, satin and muslin are also used. Fruits are beginning to be used, but only in a small way as yet.

"Ribbons also give every indication of being favored for the new season. Narrow picot-edged ribbons of silk, grosgrain and satin, and wide bows and sashes of moire, faille, satin, etc., being especially popular. Ornaments of every kind, from jutting 'devil's horns' or bright-colored bones to drops of crystal, pearl, coral or turquoise, are used in abundance on the new hats. Long, transparent pins or brightly hued glass are also effective.

"Beads are giving every indication of continuing their popularity, and there are seen oddly shaped ones ranging in size from a small pea to a half dollar. Beads of coral, turquoise, crystal or pearl are used impartially. Pendant ornaments, dangling from chains of painted bone or wood, are in demand."

GLIMPSE AT SPRING FABRICS

Silks of Heavy Texture, Crepy Materials, Homespun in Wool, Cottons and Organdies.

Spring-time is showing itself in the shops in a more liberal variety of cotton materials than for some years past, and these at more reasonable prices.

There are silks of heavy texture that promise a vogue of street wear such as suits and one-piece dresses for summer. There are heavy crepes, too, and this year some of the knitted fabrics have printed designs and crepy fabrics in silk have patterns in plaids and stripes made from threads of artificial silk. There are fabrics with borders running along the selvage edge, very handy for trimming skirts and blouses. Crepy fabrics will keep their popularity, it is said, and gray in crepe will still be the good color.

Homespun in wool will be in favor, too, and suits made from really authentic homespun give marvelous wear and have an excellent way of keeping their appearance.

Among the cottons there are prints, sateens, dotted Swiss, organdies, ginghams, dimities, voiles, and so on, the whole familiar array of old time in new dress as to color and patterns. Dimity is promised a great success. It launders better than some of the sheerer fabrics, and blouses shown in it are liked. The color and plaiding of the ginghams is good; they are in plain colors and in large and small checks. There are cotton Japanese crepes, too, that are attractive.

The Hint of Fragrance

Perfume should be very delicately applied. The more elusive it is the more nearly does it fulfill its function. Merely a whiff, a suggestion, is enough. Lightly touch the laces about your throat with the stopper. Some women have a pretty trick of brushing the lobes of the ear with perfume so that when they turn their head there will be a tantalizing hint of fragrance in the air.

Scent in Each Wood

Were our sense of smell more highly developed and better trained, says the American Forestry Magazine, we should find that every wood has its own peculiar scent by which alone it could be distinguished from all the rest.

THE VOICES EXPLAINED.

When Mrs. Wood Elf was about to explain to the boy and the girl adventurers about the voices she listened first to what they had to tell her.

Curious Creature.

"Oh, it was awful!" said the girl. "When the first voices were saying such horrible things it became very dark and frightful."

"And when we listened to the second voices," said the boy, "we seemed to be in a lighter, brighter part of the woods."

"You see," said the girl, "the first voices said not to go the way you had told us to and they said you weren't really a friend.

"And the second voices said the first voices were very wicked, which they really, really were.

"But it was frightful in the woods, hearing the different voices telling us to go different ways."

"Of course it was," said Mrs. Wood Elf. "And I will explain those voices to you."

"Do," said the boy. "And please forgive us for doubting you for a moment, dear Mrs. Wood Elf."

"Of course I will," said Mrs. Wood Elf, "for I know you haven't understood before how dreadful those first voices are.

"You find out about those voices when you come adventuring and sometimes when you don't adventure at all!

"You're apt to find them anywhere. They never appear themselves, for they can't. They're only voices. You followed the right ones, the ones who are followers of those two brothers, Honesty and Faithfulness.

"But if you had followed the wrong ones, who, it is true, said they were right, you wouldn't have found me or any one to help you on your journey for goodness knows how long! Maybe years!

"The first voices, or the wrong voices, are all ruled over by a creature named Doubt, whose lord high chancellor is named Unhappiness.

"Doubt is a very curious creature. He has hands and arms and legs and feet and a face and a body, but he has no heart at all, and so he got hold of Unhappiness, and together they rule the voices which sound in the ears of people who are going forth on adventures, as well as in those of persons who are not!

"Doubt sees that his subjects do their best to make folks doubt their friends, to make them believe that their friends are never unselfish. He makes people believe that all charities are fakes and that all kind people are being kind only for what they can get out of being kind themselves.

"Sometimes, when he does happen to be right, he is in his element, and then he tries to get a lot of followers. For instance, when a charity is a fake, or when a person has not been a true friend, he hurries his voices around and they say:

"'See, see; we told you so!'

"He and his lord high chancellor make those who listen to them pretty unhappy. And their eyesight becomes queer through following such dark and untrue paths.

"I, who am aware of everything that goes on in the woods, know. You hesitated for a moment or two. But you would not follow Doubt. You knew, too, that Doubt would never lead you to the House of Secrets.

"But here I must bid you farewell, and happy we have been, in spite of the strange things that have happened.

"May you enjoy your trip and find the House soon."

She Was Off.

So saying, Mrs. Wood Elf left them, for they had reached the road, and, pointing in the direction they should go, she was off.

The road was quite rough in places and quite bumpy, but they remembered that the witch had told them they couldn't find the House of Secrets if they stayed on the smooth, well-beaten road which was the Road Commonplace. They had to be willing to tackle the bumps if they wanted to find the answers to their questions.

And they knew that they could find the answers only if they had really adventured and had learned the secrets one by one, in the House of Secrets.

Lark.

"Listen, boy."

"Yes, sir."

"In my youth I was frequently up with the lark at five in the morning."

"You had me outclassed, dad. I couldn't keep a lark going that long."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Wedded by Eating Out of Bowl.

Marriage is not a religious ceremony among the Burmese. There is a ceremony, of course, but the only necessary and binding part of it is that the couple should, in the presence of witnesses called together for the purpose, eat out of the same bowl.

SANITY IN THE REICHSTAG.

Is Germany at last coming to its senses, at last acquiring at least an obscure perception of the unalterable truth that a nation must pay the penalty of wrong doing? The question is suggested by the moderate and chastened tone of the speech of the foreign secretary, Dr. Simons, in the Reichstag on March 12, in the course of which he said: "I must say that when one comes face to face with our opponents in London (at the reparations conference); when one hears what the situation is in their countries and under what distress and cares they themselves are laboring, it becomes clear that their demands are not inspired merely by the intoxication of victory or lust for power, but that, on the contrary, they are the result of extraordinarily heavy troubles and distress in their own countries." Troubles, he should have added, which cause Frenchmen and even Englishmen to be far more heavily taxed than Germans are at the present hour in a Germany that has taken no steps to meet its obligations. Dr. Simons went on to say that he could see the true situation in a clearer perspective in London than in Berlin, and to advise against a rupture of relations with the Allies because that would further alienate the world's good will which Germany so greatly needs.

No doubt Dr. Simons has been helped to see the light to this extent by the further advance of the Allies upon German soil. Doubtless he has also been assisted by the fact that there has been no announcement of any change in America's foreign policy. The new administration has not spoken in support of Germany's policy of repudiation, as seems to have been foolishly expected—an expectation obviously based on the confiding promises of a foreign-sympathy group in this country which hoped and too hastily boasted of its ability to influence the new administration. The sooner Dr. Simons can influence Germany itself the better for all concerned.

BUT A FLEETING JOY.

A Washington special announcing endorsement of the split infinitive by the new administration, says: "Authors who have been criticized for the use of the split infinitive took heart today, for an excellent example of it appeared in a letter written on White House stationery and signed by Warren G. Harding, President of the United States. The letter was addressed to Admiral Benson and contained the words 'to immediately advise.'" The writer of this news then made bold (if the act was not unconscious) to split two infinitives himself as follows: "To fully appreciate the joy given to the defenders of the split infinitives it was necessary to actually be among them."

It may be doubted whether this "joy" will be lasting. If the purists will not bow before great literary names against which an occasional split infinitive is charged, they are not likely to bend before President Harding who makes no pretension either to the possession of a model literary style or to the position of arbiter in such matters. Byron was called the father of the split infinitive because he wrote "to slowly trace the forest's shady scene," instead of "slowly to trace" or "to trace slowly," but examples can be found in earlier writers in both prose and verse, including Dr. Johnson and Shakespeare. Perhaps examples can also be found, as claimed, here and there in some of the most famous mid-Victorian and later nineteenth century writers. But no schooled writer of the twentieth century wishes to perpetrate a split infinitive, and probably none with a literary style of real distinction can be caught in the act. The split infinitive has been fully and finally rejected as an inadmissible solecism.

THE DOCTOR-GENERAL.

The objection to President Harding's official physician because he is a homeopath is without warrant, homeopathy being a school of medicine that after long trial has established itself in the estimation of a large part of the intelligent public. But there is ground for objection to his proposed appointment as a brigadier-general in the army in order that he may draw a sufficient salary to enable him to give up his Marion practice and go to Washington to attend the president. Mr. Wilson was criticised for promoting Dr. Grayson to the office of Rear Admiral in the navy in which service he had already served a number of active years. There is room for greater criticism of Mr. Harding's appointment of Dr. Sawyer who has never been in the army at all. But in each case it is the system rather than the act that calls for criticism. The statutory creation of the office of Physician to the President would be far more sane and no more expensive than the existing method.

At a president's time of life a change of physicians may be a serious matter, unless the president be in robust health, afflicted with none of the chronic ailments apt to come with advancing years. Naturally a president prefers his family physician in whom he has confidence, who understands his "case" after long study, who is in possession of the written "record" thereof, and can refer to it at need. Direct in lieu of indirect provision for the president's physician would seem to be desirable

Those who laugh at the fears of smokers that the anti-tobacconists will eventually triumph, just as the prohibitionists did, might take note—among other portentous signs—that the Governor of Utah has signed a statute not only prohibiting the manufacture and sale of cigarettes but penalizing the smoking of cigars or pipes in any public place. Who knows? It may be that some of this merry scoffing (and discouraging of any tendency toward organized protest) is anti-tobacco campaigning in disguise, designed to keep the smoker in fancied security until he is caught napping.

OUR WAR CLAIMS AGAINST ENGLAND

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, March 23.—Great Britain's persistent silence regarding claims growing out of her seizure of American vessels, goods and mails and of her interference with American trade both before and after the entry of the United States into the world war is being quietly investigated by Republican members of the senate foreign relations committee, it was disclosed today.

The whole subject probably will be opened up in the senate at the earliest opportunity.

A mass of papers bearing upon it are now in the committee's possession having been furnished by former Secretary of State Colby on the eve of his retirement from office in response to a senate resolution sponsored by Senator Lodge, Republican, of Massachusetts, the committee's chairman, which called upon the state department for full information respecting American claims against the British government.

An examination of these papers, just completed by Senator Lodge, revealed that, although Colby had officially inquired of the British government as long ago as August 18 of last year as to what it proposed to do with respect to the adjustment of American claims no final reply ever had been received by him. He indicated that although most of the claims had been outstanding since before the American declaration of war against Germany, efforts of the state department to effect a settlement of them had proved unavailing.

In a communication addressed to Senator Lodge under date of March [illegible] and made public today, Mr. Colby stated "for obvious reasons American claims for compensation were not pressed against the British government during the war." In a communication dated August 18, 1920, inquiry was made if the British government was prepared to enter into a reciprocal arrangement of claims growing out of the administration of American and British authorities incidental to the war. No reply has been received to the communication.

In addition to Colby's statement were copies of the voluminous correspondence exchanged by the state department with the British foreign office during and after the American participation in the world war to obtain from the British government some final decision regarding the American claims.

RARE VOLUME OF MUSIC.

Muller of Kingston Symphony Orchestra Receives Priceless Gift.

Conductor G. H. Muller is the recipient of a priceless gift from Charles H. Hotoph of New York city, orchestral leader and musician, who having spent some little time in Kingston recently, was much impressed with the Kingston Symphony Orchestra under Mr. Muller's conducting, and also with the high class of music, for the most part played at the Keeney Theater.

The gift from Mr. Hotoph is a bound volume of the eleven most famous of Beethoven's overtures, the original publication, dated 1807. Realising how much Mr. Muller would prize this work, which he himself had inherited from his father, also a musician, Mr. Hotoph was of the opinion that in giving it to the Kingston Symphony Orchestra conductor he would be passing it on to worthy hands.

The publication contains the three Leonore Overtures; the overtures to Fidelio, Prometheus, Coriolan, Egmont, Ruin of Athens, and three seldom heard, possibly played today only by the Boston Symphony Orchestra. These three are "Namensfeire" (Birthday Festival, played by the Boston Symphony), "To King Stephan and "Weihe des Hauses" (The Opening of the House).

SUPREME COUNCIL TO HOLD SESSION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, March 23.—The new situation created by the Allies' indemnity penalties upon Germany and Germany's claim for all of Upper Silesia probably will result in an early conference of the Inter Allied Supreme Council at which France will demand final drastic measures to compel German obedience, it was reliably reported today.

The Allied reparations commission held a meeting to consider the German note rejecting the Allies' ultimatum that Germany pay one billion gold marks but contended that the Allies were wrong in their contention that Germany owes any of the 20,000,000,000 gold marks due from her before May 1 under the terms of the treaty of Versailles.

It is understood that the reparations commission will confer with the various Allied governments before there is a decision but there are persistent reports that further sanctions will be used, including further seizure of coal mines in the Ruhr district and of many industries.

The German embassy in Paris is most insistent that Germany will not pay another cent of indemnity until the differences over the amount already paid by Berlin has been cleared up. The German government claims that more than 20,000,000,000 gold marks have been paid. The Allies claim that Germany has paid 8,000,000,000 gold marks and still owes approximately 12,000,000,000 gold marks.

The Germans claim that the surrendered German tonnage should be charged off on the books at the rate of 72 francs which was the value at the time the ships were surrendered. England computed the value of the shipping at 17 francs, the present valuation placed upon it.

FINAL RETURNS ON PLEBISCITE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, March 23.—Final returns from the Upper Silesian plebescite were announced by the foreign office today as follows:

For Germany, 716,406; for Poland, 471,406.

Several communities in the coal mining district gave the Poles a majority, but Germany is making claim for the whole of Upper Silesia and is protesting against partition of the province.

Priced from $12.00 to $125.00

BLOUSES—Rich shadings and lavish embellishments feature the blouses for Spring 1921. Collarless styles predominate. In many instances the trend is towards the Spanish decoration. All these may be seen in our Blouse section.

Priced from $4.95 to $18.00

MILLINERY—Some few novel shapes are with brim short at the back and wide in the front, in a manner slightly suggestive of the Directoire poke, while again others are jauntily turned back directly at the center of the back and tilted in the Louis XVI fashion. Combination of fabric and straw, notably of crepe de chine or Georgette crepe with picot straw, are used for covering. Our displays are complete in every particular and will be of exceptional interest.

Priced from $9.95 to $39.95

SUITS—Both the Balkan States and Chinese influences are reflected in the American-made suits with the three-quarter loose sleeve appearing in the short jackets, while the long tight sleeve is seen in the tailored models which are typically American in design and are worn by the best dressed women here and abroad.

DRESSES—Circular overskirt models, one of the features of the new season, varies from the slim silhouette in that it gives the form a fuller appearance from the hip down. Oftimes the tunic is lavishly embroidered with copper and silver threads. Silks and rich woolen fabrics are employed in the making. Navy blue, grey, brown and black share the honors in the color scheme.

FLOUR CAMPAIGN IS GOING STRONG

A famine victim in Armenia

Newton H. Fessenden reports a hearty and whole-hearted response from the various churches of Kingston to the special emergency appeal to send a preliminary consignment of flour on the relief ship which leaves New York city on April 1st. This appeal was made on receipt of a telegram from General Leonard Wood urging that everything be done to send flour to save thousands of people now on the verge of starvation. Plans for the flour campaign are gradually assuming definite shape. The merchants of the city are co-operating with the committee in arranging the exhibits for the flour drive and it is hoped that the response on the part of the people of Kingston will be as gratifying as last year.

C. S. Treadwell, treasurer of the committee, has put a sales force at the service of the committee and will assist in distributing material for the exhibits throughout the county.

AT PLATTEKILL CONFERENCE.

Quarterly Conference Shows Result of Hard Work.

At the fourth quarterly conference held in the Plattekill M. E. Church reports indicated that the church was doing faithful work in all departments. The money raised by the Ladies' Aid Society indicated a splendid record of activity and devotion. The pastor, H. A. Seaman, has speedily won his way into the hearts of the congregation and community and so pleases the people that the official board and the members present unanimously requested the continuation of his pastoral leadership for the fourth year.

The W. C. T. U. will hold its regular monthly meeting April 1 at the home of Mrs. James Ward.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Luther Terwilliger April 5. Business of importance and a good attendance is desired.

Easter Sunday, March 27, will be observed at the Plattekill M. E. Church. The minister will preach a special Easter sermon. Singing appropriate to the occasion. A very cordial invitation is extended to all to meet with us. Preaching service, 11 a. m. Sunday school 10 a. m. All are welcome.

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, N. Y., March 22.—The egg supper and auction of pounds in the Methodist Church on Friday evening was very successful. The supper was excellent, and the pounds were auctioned very successfully by Ross Osterhoudt. The cakes were auctioned even more successfully, one of them bringing the record price of one dollar and a half. Needless to say it was worth it! Thirty-eight dollars and eighty-nine cents was received, with expenses amounting to only twenty-five cents.

The Rev. I. E. Usher has accepted a call to the Baptist Church in New Baltimore, about fifteen miles south of Albany. Mr. Usher's services here have been of the highest quality, and he will leave with the good wishes of the entire church and community.

Next Sunday morning in the Methodist Church the pastor will give an Easter sermon. There will also be a reception of members. In the evening there will be exercises by the Sunday school children, and brief farewell remarks by the pastor. Sunday school will meet at ten o'clock as usual, and will be observed as missionary Sunday.

The Rev. Herbert Wright, district superintendent of the Newburgh district, was in this place on Thursday of last week to confer with the committee on ministerial support for the coming conference year. He also baptized Miss Marjorie Turner, Miss Bessie Kross, and Miss Delphine McBee. The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Ellis.

Miss Almeda Gerow made a trip to New York last week.

P. A. Clark spent the week end with his mother and sisters in this place.

The seven members of the Graduate Class who took an examination under the board of Sunday schools of the Methodist Episcopal Church recently all passed with good standing. Those passing were Miss Edith Lockwood, Miss Pauline Galen, Miss Dorothy Palen, Miss Nellie Eckert, Miss Carrie Muller, Miss Frances Muller, and Miss Elva Beth Rogers. This will entitle them to twenty-four units on a Trained Workers' certificate. The class will now begin the study of a second [illegible] course [illegible] Great Characters of the Old Testament.

IRISH DEATH LIST GROWING RAPIDLY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Dublin, March 23.—Nearly three score persons have been killed in Ireland in the past 72 hours and the death list is mounting more rapidly than at any other time since fighting became severe.

Since Sunday, 21 soldiers, nine policemen and 10 Republicans have been killed. In addition 18 others who had no direct connection with either the crown forces or the Sinn Fein met death. More than 100 persons were wounded.

Among the wounded were a man and child, who were struck by flying bullets during an ambuscade of crown forces in this city at 9 o'clock last night. Both were said to be dying this morning.

Two brothers named Skelton were found dead in a field near Enniscorthy. Both had been shot through the head. The arms were bound and upon the breast of each was a card reading:

"A convicted spy."

The men had evidently been members of the Republican army but had been convicted by a Sinn Fein court martial of giving information to the British military and police authorities.

FEAST OF PURIM.

Religious and Social Observance of Jewish Holiday This Evening.

Services will be held in the synagogues this evening to celebrate the Feast of Purim, a minor festival of the Jewish calendar, which falls this year on March 24th and is observed according to the practice of the synagogue beginning with the evening of the previous day.

The ritual of the Purim feast consists in the reading of the Book or Scroll of Esther in the original or in a translation. In days of old this reading was accompanied by the unrestricted comments of the congregation on the contents of the scroll. The mention of Queen Esther and Mordecai was the occasion for applause, while the trickeries of Haman were ridiculed and reviled by any noisy method or instrument.

The semi-mirthful treatment of this Biblical story yielded in course of time to a more sober rendition. The story of the Jewish people in ancient Persia, where the scene of the Book of Esther is located, reflected in part the career of the Jewish people in all ages. Then, even as now, in some quarters, the Jewish people were beset by opponents and daily their lives were threatened as they were in the story of Esther, which relates how they were plotted against by Haman.

The joyous celebration of this feast was never modified in the darkest period of Israel's career. The bitter experiences the Jewish people were forced to endure gave them greater reason to observe this festival in a spirit of merriment, in order to counteract the sadness of their own lot and revive their lagging faith in God who shielded them against the attacks of the implacable foe.

Home and synagogue were the scenes of joy and gladness. In the home additional delicacies were served at meal time. All who happened to be in distress were given cause to rejoice.

At the present time social programs are arranged such as masked balls and theatricals to provide cheer for the entire Jewish community. The sending of gifts and interchange of friendly visits is another feature of the Purim celebration.

BUNCO MAN HELD.

Youth Who Fleeced Local Clergy Arrested in Albany.

Lawrence Murtaugh, who fleeced several Kingston ministers early in February, is under arrest in Albany on a similar charge. While here he was accompanied by another youth named Roy Campbell. They visited the homes of the local clergy and told a hard luck tale and asked for sufficient funds to take them back home. They were arrested by the police and later discharged by Acting Judge Shufeldt.

The Albany arrest followed a complaint lodged with the police by the Rev. Cortis E. Torrance, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Albany, who alleges Murtaugh attempted to obtain money from him on false pretenses. Murtaugh is alleged to have confessed to soliciting money from several ministers in Albany county and also to having been arrested in Kingston for a similar offense.

Albany Avenue Baptist Church.

The special services which are grouped about the Easter season at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church will begin with the prayer meeting on Thursday evening. The topic will be "Vanity Fair." At the Good Friday service on Friday evening at 7:30 the pastor, the Rev. Arthur S. Cole, will preach on "The Sin-Bearer," and the choir will render a bass solo and chorus by Lorenz entitled "On Calvary Hill." On Easter Sunday the choir will give selections from Wildermere's cantata, "The Living Christ," at both morning and evening services, and will be assisted by Mrs. Florence Wohlfert [illegible], violinist, and Miss Lillian M. Healy, pianist. Morning sermon topic, "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth;" evening sermon on "The Crystal Christ." The Bible school Easter exercises at noon will consist of attractive carols, recitations and drills.

FEAR FROST.

Dutchess County Orchardists Much Disturbed.

Dutchess county farmers are much disturbed by fears of a fruit-killing frost, according to information given out Monday by Frank H. Lacy, of the Dutchess Farm Bureau.

Mr. Lacy stated that not for years have the fruit trees been so far into bud as they are at the present time, and if a heavy frost were to come now, as it is likely to do so early in the spring, the fruit crops, and particularly the peach crop, would suffer greatly.

Although the apple trees are also far into bud, the danger to them is not so great, because of the hardy nature of the apple tree. Orchards in the lowlands or along the streams are not in so great danger, as they are partially protected by the fogs and mists, but the hillside orchards would suffer considerable loss if a frost were to come within the next week or two.

"Potter's Field."

The term, which is applied to a place, where the penniless and unknown are buried, had its origin in Matthew 27:7, when the chief priests "took counsel and bought with them (the thirty pieces of silver for which Judas betrayed the Master) the potter's field to bury strangers in." The name has clung to such plots ever since.

Card Of Thanks.

I wish to extend my sincere thanks to the many relatives and friends who assisted me during my sad bereavement, also the Central Athletic Club for beautiful pillow of flowers, the American Legion and Mrs. Herman La Tour for the beautiful solo, Nearer my God to Thee, at my brave son's funeral, Arthur F. Gill.

HIS MOTHER, MRS. PAUL RADATZ.

TERWILLIGER'S EVIDENCE IN

Dr. F. W. Terwilliger, plaintiff in the action brought against Browning King & Company, was the last witness called on behalf of plaintiff and at the conclusion of his testimony this morning Judge Van Wyck announced that they had completed their case. The motion was denied and defendant's case was opened by swearing Mr. Ames of New York city, a contractor and builder who testified to the rental values in New York city and in regard to the fair rental value of the Browning King & Company basement where Mr. Terwilliger conducted his baths. Witnesses for plaintiff placed a rental value of $2,000 per month on the property. Mr. Ames testified that the rental value was about $5,000 a year.

A number of witnesses will be sworn on behalf of defendant and the case will take some time before it is completed and sent to the jury.

DR. FOLLETTE IS ARRAIGNED

Indicted by the Grand Jury, he Enters a Plea of Not Guilty and Furnishes Bail—Other Defendants Arraigned.

Dr. Henry A. Follette of Fair street was indicted by the grand jury which reported in the supreme court Tuesday afternoon and was arraigned before Judge Rosch at the opening of court this afternoon on a charge of criminal malpractice. The indictment against Dr. Follette was one of ten sealed indictments handed up by the grand jury, and he is the first of the persons against whom sealed indictments were found to be arrested and arraigned.

The complaint against Dr. Follette in the present case was brought to the attention of District Attorney Traver and was presented to the grand jury by him. The young woman [illegible] case is not a resident of Ulster [illegible] but for the present her [illegible] withheld from publication, as [illegible] of other women have been in previous cases when Dr. Follette was [illegible] indicted on similar charges.

Several years ago Dr. Follette was indicted for manslaughter in the first degree, as the result of an operation performed on a woman whose subsequent illness was for a time of such serious character [illegible] fears were entertained on her [illegible] also. In that case Judge [illegible], who was county judge, was disqualified from acting because he had been attorney for Dr. Follette in civil cases, and the case was tried before County Judge, now Supreme Court Justice Albert H. F. Seeger of Newburgh. The case attracted much attention and the jury rendered a verdict of guilty. On appeal to the appellate division of the supreme court, that court reversed the judgment of conviction on the ground that cross-examination of the defendant by Judge Cunningham, who was then district attorney exceeded proper limits.

Dr. Follette appeared with ex-Mayor William D. Brinnier as counsel, who entered a plea of not guilty, reserving the right to demur or make any motion. Judge Rosch directed that the case be sent to county court and fixed bail at $2,000, which was furnished. The sureties are William Metz and Walter Neals.

Anton J. Schmidt was arraigned by District Attorney Traver on a charge of manslaughter, second degree, in causing the death of Edward Hogan in this city on December 26 last when the automobile which he was driving crashed into a trolley car near St. Mary's Church. He was represented by William D. Brinnier, Jr., and pleaded not guilty. Bail was fixed at $2,000.

William Smith arraigned on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated in this city on January 23. He appeared by William D. Brinnier, Jr., and pleaded not guilty. Bail was fixed at $500.

George Doolittle was arraigned on a similar charge, committed January 5 in this city. He appeared by A. J. Cook and pleaded not guilty. The case was ordered to county court and bail fixed at $500.

The remaining six sealed indictments were moved to county court by District Attorney Traver.

Egmont Overture By Request.

Perhaps nothing has shown more plainly the increased interest in the best music in our really fine old town, that the number of requests that have come to Conductor George H. Muller for special numbers to be played at the Symphony Orchestra concert at the Opera House on Monday, April 25. Among these requests have been several for the beautiful Egmont Overture by Beethoven, and that will be included on the program with the Schubert Unfinished Symphony, also to be played by request, and one of the original numbers on the Musical Memory Contest list. Subscriptions for the Symphony Orchestra concert are coming in with gratifying speed and in unusual numbers, a further proof of our really awakened musical interest.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, March 23.—Gains of from fractions to two points were made in the stock market today on an active demand. Greatest activity was centered in the specialties. Atlantic Gulf was steadily bought and rose 2 points to 37⅞. Stromberg Carburetor rose 2 points to 38 and Famous Players over 1 point to 69. United Retail Stores advanced 1 point to 40½. The motors also continued their upward movement. Studebaker was bought heavily and rose to 74½. Chandler sold up to 78¾ and Pierce Arrow to 33⅝. Steel Common rose to 31⅝. Crucible sold at 89. Mexican Petroleum rose fractionally to 148⅜. Pacific Oil was in demand, advancing ⅝ to 35¼. Sears Roebuck was in supply, falling 2 points to 72½.

Practically all the active issues were in large demand during the morning, advances of from one to three points being made. Studebaker continued active and strong, moving up to another new high record at 77⅝, a gain of over four points for the day. It was said that much of the buying of Studebaker was for the interests of Durant Motors. All of the other motor issues were in demand. Chandler selling at 79⅝ and Kelly-Springfield at 41. Lee Rubber and Tire became prominent, advancing four points to 29¼ and United States Rubber rose 2⅞ to 74½. The steel issues were strong. United States Steel moving up to 82⅛ and Crucible Steel to 90½. General Asphalt rose 2½ to 63⅝. The rails were quiet.

New high records for the year were made in a number of issues on the market this afternoon when the entire list engaged in a vigorous forward movement. Gains of from one to over six points were scored. Hurried covering by shorts, induced by a more optimistic industrial outlook, was generally believed responsible for the advance. The motors led in the upturn and Studebaker rose 6½ points to 79¾, a new high for the year. Chandler, at 81⅞, and Pierce Arrow at 35½, also were new high marks.

The market closed irregular today; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

ROTARIANS HEAR NEGRO SINGER

Cleveland Allen, the singer who is to lecture and sing in the A. M. E. Zion Church on Franklin street this evening, entertained the Rotary Club at the noon luncheon today in a most amusing and instructive manner. Mr. Allen is a student in Columbia University and was decorated for services as a Red Cross man during the war. He was accompanied by the Rev. E. O. Clarke, pastor of Zion Church.

Mr. Allen said he could easily see why Rip Van Winkle, of whose reappearance he had read in The Freeman, avoided Kingston, for the town was a live one and no place for sleepers. He then gave a brief history and explanation of negro folk songs, from 1619, when the first slaves landed, to 1871, when the first effort was made to collect and preserve those songs. Music dominated the negro and through music he expressed himself. Scripture references are frequent in these songs because the Bible was the only book that was read to the slaves. Resignation, hope, courage, are expressed in these songs, but no bitterness. The songs were expressions of life and conditions. Mr. Allen illustrated this by singing "Steal Away to Jesus" and explaining how each verse had its origin.

"Swing Low Sweet Chariot, "Nobody Knows the Trouble I See, "Going to Shout All Over God's Heaven" and "Free at Last" were sung by Mr. Allen to show the various types of songs. His voice is very pleasing and expressive and his explanations of the origin and spirit of the songs interesting and enlightening. He should have a large audience this evening.

New York, March 23.—Wage cuts ranging from 22 to 25 per cent and affecting every one of its 45,000 men and women, including officials and subordinate officials, was announced today by the International Harvester Co., under a program of reconstruction, "based on an expert analysis of living costs, business possibilities and working conditions."

Railroad Losses.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, March 23.—Statistics to prove that railroads in this country lost more than $300,000,000 a year through the "waste and inefficiency" of war time agreements were brought before the United States Railroad Labor Board today by General W. W. Atterbury, vice-president of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Chief Justice White.

According to rumors in official circles in Washington, Chief Justice White, of the United States supreme court, will soon resign because of failing eyesight and Secretary of State Hughes will probably have his long cherished ambition gratified of becoming chief justice of the highest court in the country. In event of Secretary Hughes being appointed to succeed Chief Justice White, the reports say, Secretary of the Interior Fall will be made secretary of state.

ICE PRICES TO REMAIN SAME

"Winter's fruit for summer's use," as one local ice company rather cleverly puts it, will sell for practically the same prices as last summer, according to some of the retail ice dealers. While there was but little ice harvested from the Hudson river the past winter all of the local ice dealers secured their supply from nearby ponds and streams. The ice stored by the local dealers is of fine quality. One dealer when asked what the retail price would be this summer stated that he could not see where there would be a reduction in the retail price. He said that there had been no reduction in wages of the men engaged in the ice business, and that was one of the main items in the cost of delivery. Kingston need fear no ice famine this summer as all of the dealers obtained all the ice needed.

True Humor.

In the end we find that the test of true humor is the reaction it makes to the depression, sorrow and sadness of life and its power to give brightness and courage in the midst of disaster. The jolts is worth while that makes life more possible and sorrow a little less impossible—that brings a smile amid tears, as sunshine in the heart of clouds is seen cutting its way through the darkness. Yet, despite England's training in trouble, what is there finer than the delicate humor of Oliver Wendell Holmes?—Exchange.

SOCIETY NOTES.

On Saturday evening last Doctor and Mrs J. S. Robinson of 44 Abeel street were at home to their friends in honor of the home coming of their son and his bride, Mr and Mrs Harold E Robinson. About fifty close friends and relatives gathered to welcome the young people and to bring them kind wishes and happy congratulations. The soft lights, the beautiful blossoms and greenery scattered about the home, the genuine kindliness of interest and appreciation in the happy faces and the dainty refreshments provided, all contributed to a scene of beauty that will be treasured in the memory of each one present as one of the gems of life's experience. Mr and Mrs. Robinson are making their new home at 192 Bay 31st street, Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr Robinson is with the New York Title and Mortgage Company of New York city. They are both highly esteemed in their wide circle of acquaintance and the possibilities of life open before them full of bright promise.

On Saturday evening, March 19, a delightful birthday party was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Post, 83 Ten Broeck avenue, it being the birthday of Mr Post and also of John Rose The evening was spent in music and dancing. Selections were rendered by Harry Maisenhelder. Delicious refreshments were served, the center of the table being occupied by two large birthday cakes handsomely decorated by Post, the baker, and each holding 62 candles in honor of Mr. Post and Mr Rose. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. George Beard, Mr. and Mrs Al. Pleugh, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Whipple, Mr and Mrs William Anderson, Mr. and Mrs William Collins of Pennsylvania, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Balfe, Mr and Mrs John Bechtold, Mr. and Mrs M. Sorosis.

On Monday of this week, Sorosis met with Mrs. Rice at her home on Downs street. The one interesting paper of the evening on "South American Industries" was given by Mrs. Lorraine Wood, and was followed by a considerable discussion on current events. Tickets for the coming Charles Rann Kennedy Shakespearean entertainment at the high school on April 12, were given out, the club members voting to secure their allotted number of patrons and sell their full share of tickets for the entertainment. Next Monday afternoon Sorosis will meet with Mrs. Drake.

Monday Club.

Miss Forsyth entertained the Monday Club at her home on Pearl street on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Michael reported on the federation meeting held on Saturday. The paper for the day, an excellent one, on "Thomas Hardy," was given by Mrs DeWitt Roosa, who also gave an enjoyable review of the author's book, "A Pair of Blue Eyes." Mrs. Higginson reviewed Hardy's "Far from the Madding Crowd," and a resume of the author's book, "Tess of D'Urbervilles," was given by Mrs Fowler. Tickets for the coming Kennedy entertainment for the benefit of the Kingston City Library were given out for sale and the club pledged itself to secure its share of patrons. Next week the club will meet with Mrs. Burcevin.

Lowell Club.

Tuesday the Lowell Club devoted its attention to Eden Philpotts and the Dartmoor Country and enjoyed a most unusually delightful afternoon which began with an address entitled, "Personal Glimpses of the Dartmoor Country," given by the Rev. Dr. Baragwanath, in which he fascinatingly and graphically described the lanes and rivers and charmed spots of the Dartmoor and Devonshire country. This was followed by a most admirable paper on "Eden Philpotts and his beloved Dartmoor Country," given by Mrs. Lewis. The program closed with a review of Philpotts's novel, "The Miser's Money," given by Mrs Baxter. During the business session the club members received their tickets to be sold for the coming dramatic entertainment to be given for the benefit of the Kingston City Library by Charles Rann Kennedy and wife (Edith Wynne Mathison) at the high school on April 12th. Next week the club will meet with Miss Baker at her home, No. 85 West Chester street.

Kept on the Keen Jump.

"I reckon you had a right lively time in Kansas City?" insinuated an acquaintance.

"Tollable," replied Gabe Gosnell of Grudge, "but nothing like what I probably would have had if I wasn't considerable lively on my feet. You see, up in Kay See, if you meet a respectable-looking man after 4 o'clock in the afternoon, anywhere the least bit off to one side, he's a hold-up and robs you.

"And if you meet one that don't look respectable, he's a plain clothes policeman, and pounds you because he thinks you're a hold-up. So I was practically on the keen jump all the time I was there, dodging the one or the other."—Kansas City Star.

Ash Leads in Tennis.

Good tennis rackets require choice woods. Strength is furnished by the bentwood rim or bow, which is usually ash or hickory, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. Elm is serviceable but its appearance is not regarded as equal to that of hickory or ash, and appearance counts for much.

Oil of Apples.

Chemists have newly succeeded in extracting from apple parings, by means of ether, an essential oil, yellowish, and of a somewhat gummy consistency, which possesses in high degree the characteristic and delicious odor of fresh apples. Crabapple parings yield more of this oil than those of ordinary apples. It is likely to be turned to useful account for flavoring purpos and conceivably for perfumes.

Blame the Dentist.

The gums more frequently lose their strength and become feeble from lack of care, but sometimes a poor dentist does much to bring about Riggs' disease Ill-fitting crowns and bridges are a great menace to the gums and often result in the formation of pus, as do stumps of teeth and half-decayed roots which are attempted to be saved by crowning or are permitted to remain in the mouth.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, March 23.—Lieutenant Colonel Alexander Anderson who won high honors in the World War ceased to be a member of the American Legion today. Lieutenant Colonel Anderson was tried by officials of the American Legion sitting as a court martial but was not present. He was a member of the old 69th Regiment rising from the ranks to the second highest officer of the unit.

The meeting at which Colonel Anderson spoke was in protest against the use of negro troops on the Rhine by the French. Lieutenant Colonel Anderson in the course of his remarks is reported to have said

"I will call the attention of those particular people to the words of our president at the time of his dragging us into the war."

DAUGHERTY WILL REDUCE FORCE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, March 23.—Attorney General Daugherty has decided to reduce the Department of Justice to a "peace footing." War agencies built up as part of the legal machinery are to be abolished.

Judge Vernon Van Fleet of South Bend, Ind., designated by the attorney general as department re-organizer, today began the task of dismantling some of the routine branches which were devoted to war activity.

Attorney General Daugherty said substantial economies will be effected in the course of the re-organization.

"We need less prosecutors," said Daugherty. "It should be possible to handle the government's legal affairs with less men, and at a large saving to the government."

POLICE MUST ACT.

New State Dry Law Will Give Them Much Work.

The problem of enforcing the Volstead act in Kingston and other cities in the state will be put up squarely to the police chief and other city officials as soon as Governor Miller signs the three state prohibition enforcement bills passed by the state senate on Tuesday. The assembly had already passed the bills, and the governor is expected to sign them when he returns to Albany from Atlantic City where he is stopping for several days. Governor Miller has made it plain that he intends to enforce the prohibition law, that he intended to put the issue squarely up to the city officials, and that he would see that these officials did their duty and enforced whatever laws the legislature might enact. He intimated that if city officials did not do their duty in this matter he would take steps to remove them. The two main bills passed Tuesday, abolish the excise department, write the Volstead act into the laws of the state and put the burden of enforcement on the police authorities. The third bill permits recovery in a civil action against persons who sell or give away liquor for injuries suffered or caused by those who drink it.

Tribute to Mrs. Palen.

Especial reference to the musical and dramatic ability of the late Mrs. Joseph Palen is made in a tribute by Director Vincent of the Playhouse printed in the Erie Dispatch. Mrs. Palen was at one time soprano soloist of the First Reformed Church in this city. The Dispatch says: In the death of Mrs. Joseph Palen, which occurred March 10 at her home, 158 Hess avenue, not only have family and friendship ties been severed but local musical and dramatic circles have sustained a loss that will be keenly felt in future endeavor. Mrs. Palen was for several seasons soprano soloist at Luther Memorial Church and was otherwise active in musical circles. An intimate friend of that well known actress, Edna May, she also had several years' experience on the stage and on coming to Erie her talent was added to the coterie of Little Playhouse actors and later she was identified with the Community Players. With her versatile talent she gave an individuality to whatever role she was cast, whether grave or gay, young or old. Mrs. Palen is the third of the Playhouse actors to die within three months, her death following closely that of Ernest C. Parshall and Mrs. Edward Steinberg. "Her brilliant dramatic and musical talent will be greatly missed," said Director Vincent. "Her bright personality and unfailing good cheer, loyalty and kindly spirit were fully appreciated by her associates on the Playhouse stage."

Carpentier made this statement known to friends here recently, it became known today in discussing the fighting merits of Harry Wills, the American negro, touted as a contender for the world's title.

"For many reasons I would not naturally choose colored fighters as opponents," said Carpentier. "But if I win the title and Wills or any other colored man challenges me I'll take him on. Then I can claim the title as champion of all classes and colors.
